

HELPING HOUNDS in HAITI

Emergency relief campaign

“When people suffer, so do animals.”

- Humane Society International

In the coming days and months, the world’s attention will be focused on Haiti, where humanitarian and relief efforts are underway. But what will become of the thousands of pets and other animals left homeless, injured and starving in the wake of the disaster?

With no organized animal welfare groups, shelters or veterinary schools in Haiti, these animals face an uncertain and potentially tragic future.

The World Society for the Protection of Animals has joined forces with the International Fund for Animal Welfare to create the Animal Relief Coalition for Haiti (ARCH) — so that all animal welfare organizations involved in response efforts can work together and make sure aid gets to as many animals, and in as short a time, as possible. Camp Bow Wow, Home Buddies by Camp Bow Wow and The Bow Wow Buddies Foundation have joined forces to collect donations for this effort. Please help us make a difference in Haiti—
Donate today.

Donation drive runs January 18th—31st. Donate at your local Camp Bow Wow or Home Buddies location. 100% of funds raised will directly benefit the Animal Relief Coalition for Haiti.
